The Revolution Fever makes exemplary use of modern materials – it's a supremely versatile, comfortable and effective jacket. It has not only a removable lining but also removable external panels, leaving you with a mesh jacket for the very hottest of days. It's cut quite short, so doesn't really qualify as a year-round jacket, but the waterproofing seems pretty good. The details are good, from the zips to the comfy Neoprene padding on the collar. It comes with CE-marked Arron armour on the elbows, shoulders and back. Available in sizes S to 3XL, in black/white. CO
